

Effective June 29, 2009, the NCAA Eligibility Center will be unveiling a new student-athlete Web site and registration process for college-bound student-athletes planning to enroll fall 2010 and later. The new Web address is www.eligibilitycenter.org. The Eligibility Center feels that this new environment will aid coaches in easily accessing the vital information needed to assist student-athletes and parents with the registration and academic and amateurism certification process. It will also make the registration process easier for student-athletes, while providing them with a more interactive environment to begin their NCAA student-athlete experience.

The existing Web site will continue to operate for college-bound student-athletes needing to register and enroll in fall 2009. It will also continue to provide academic and amateur certification status for fall 2009 and winter/spring 2010 enrollees.
